VOLUME XLIV

BRYAN, TEXAS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1930.

NUMBER 15

The People's Column

To the Editor of The Eagle:
I am sending you a clipping from the Alto Herald of September 5. Have learned that there is a tomato industry started in Brazos county and as I was born and reared in that county I am still interested in my home county, so I am sending this article so that you can see for yourself that the Farm Labor Union of Cherokee county is one of the largest and best shipping associations in the country. Its headquarters are at Jacksonville, Texas.

I am especially interested in the tomato industry such as has been started in Brazos county and thought you might be interested to know that I have averaged $1,000 a year from 4 acres each year through the past 3 years, this year being the worst year of the three.

Woman of Texas Waved Farewells To Fated Andree

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 10.—(AP)—A Texas woman was among the thousands who waved farewell 33 years ago to the ill-fated Andree balloon expedition to the north pole.

Mrs. L. H. Larsen of Port Arthur, then Miss Sophie Borsum of Norway, stood in the vast crowd at the Oslo flying field when Salomon Andree, Knut Grankel and Nils Strindberg floated away to die in the north.

"It," she said, "was a beautiful day, the day Andree sailed off. I had come to the field early in order not to miss any of the activities. I had seen Andree take off before in a trial flight and I felt I must wave farewell to these intrepid airmen who were attempting to blaze a trail into the unknown polar regions.

"Although I have forgotten many of the details, I still can see Andree and his companions waving from their little wicker basket as the balloon took the air and headed north."

COUNTY SLAUGHTER HOUSES SHORT OF REQUIREMENTS

Leaders Leave Ready To Work For Best of State

GALVESTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Ross S. Sterling of Houston who only 20 years ago was a country merchant in Liberty county, Tuesday night was acclaimed the Democratic nominee for governor of Texas.

The order of business was suspended while the platform committee was awaited and Cone Johnson of Tyler proceeded to make the nominating speech, naming his friends, Mr. Sterling, for governor.

He sketched Mr. Sterling's career as a country storekeeper, country banker, city banker and builder of note.

"He will give us an honest, fair and upright administration to the glory of our state," he said.

"We expect at his hands a fair deal for everybody and everything."

He spoke of serving "by his side" on the highway commission. He said no rascality or wrongdoing would find any sympathetic atmosphere there.

There was only a handful of people in the auditorium. Governor Moody, with a pink flower in his white coat lapel leaned over with his elbows on his knees from the first balcony to listen.

Johnson is one of the state's best known orators of the real silver tongue type.

He spoke of an effort to "foist upon us a nondescript government" and said the "grave had been closed."

"Now let's turn away and go to work for grand old Texas," he said.

Mrs. Alex Adams, club woman of San Antonio, seconded Mr. Sterling's nomination.

She pointed to the work of the women in the campaign and said they had joined hands with the men to elect Mr. Sterling.

She said it would have been better for women if Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, former governor, whom Mr. Sterling defeated, had never been born.

She said she gave her credit for being a good mother, but that she knew if she were elected she would not be the governor.

Mrs. Lee J. Rountree of Bryan recently elected to the Texas house of representatives, also made a seconding speech.

Mrs. Sterling and their daughter, Miss Norma Sterling, sat with Mr. Sterling while the nominating speeches were in progress.

There was a demonstration, men and women shouted and whistled and clapped when Sterling himself went forward to the microphone. He looked a bit shy as he began speaking, telling how he was gratified at the "nice things" said about him.

The candidate devoted several minutes to reminiscences, how he had lived not far from here as a poor farmer boy and how Galveston was the first "real town" he ever saw.

"I'm a little bit weary. I'm a little bit tired. They say I'm a rich man. Yes, I am. Not in the (Continued on page 6)

Inquiries about the graveling of unpaved streets, before weather conditions get bad, have been received at the city building from residents in various sections of the city.

The suggestion was made by the city manager that all citizens desiring to make this improvement get in touch with him, in order to learn approximate costs and the details of the arrangements that might be made.

Eight States Stage Primaries On Tuesday

LONG IS VICTORIOUS

Blease and Ransdell Both Defeated For Senate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Georgia today held a Democratic primary following a primary in eight states yesterday.

Louisiana's smoke clearing revealed that Governor Huey P. Long was the Democratic United States senatorial nominee over Senator Ransdell.

South Carolina also defeated its incumbent, James Byrnes defeating Senator Blease in the Democratic primary.

George H. Shaw is the apparent winner of the Colorado Republican nomination over William V. Hodges.

Michigan Republicans returned Senator James Couzens.

Henry Keyes was nominated as the Republican senatorial candidate in New Hampshire.

Washington's wet and dry battle left the nominations uncertain. Two of five dry congressmen trailing their wet opponents.

Arizona Republicans renominated Gov. Phillips and the Democrats former Governor Hunt for the governorship.

Vermont Republicans nominated Gov. Weeks, dry, for Congress.

Long Is Victor By Early Votes For U. S. Senate

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 10.—(AP)—On the face of approximately one-third of the total precincts in Louisiana, Governor Huey P. Long apparently has won the Democratic nomination for the United States senate over the incumbent, Senator Joseph E. Ransdell.

Returns from 510 precincts out of a total of 1,423 gave Governor Long a majority of 3,631. The vote stood Long, 44,621; Ransdell, 40,290.

Governor Long was leading Senator Ransdell by 6,936 on 388 precincts out of a total of 1,178 in parishes outside of the city of New Orleans, the total being Long, 28,760; Ransdell, 21,824.

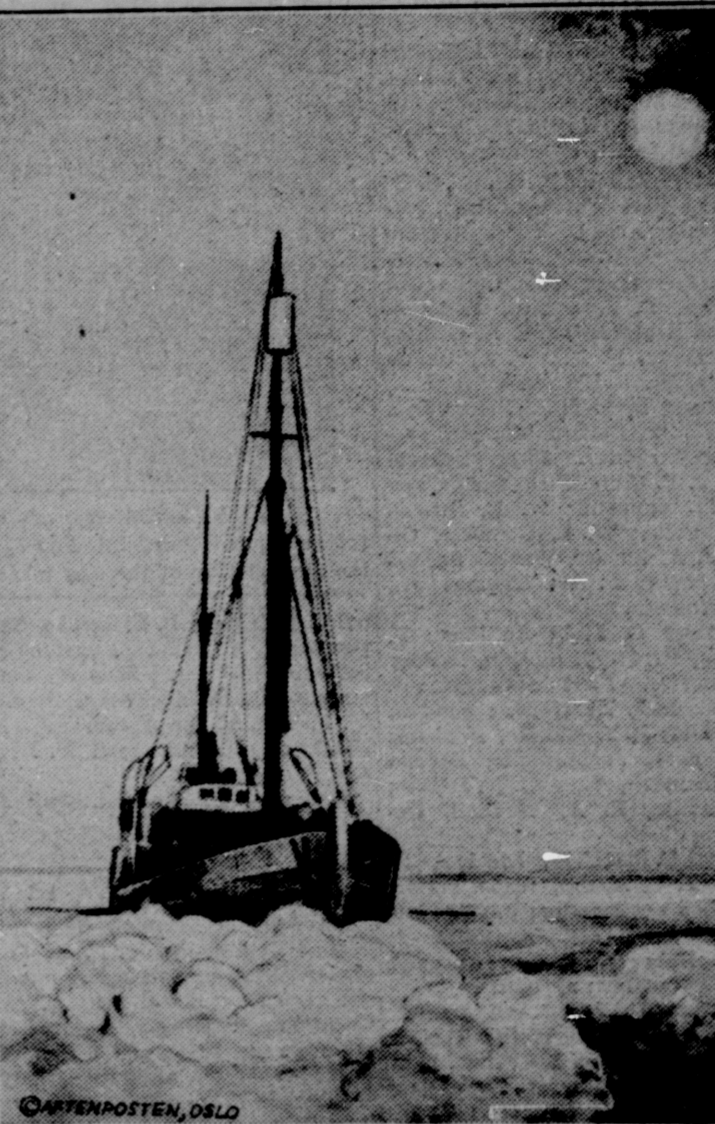

In the city of New Orleans, Long trailed Ransdell by 3,305 on returns from 122 precincts out of a total of 245, the vote standing Long 15,861; Ransdell, 19,166.

The third congressional district, considered one of the key districts in the election where each candidate fought hard for votes, gave Governor Long 8,050, and Senator Ransdell 3,292 on returns from 93 precincts out of a total of 142.

If present ratio of returns continues Governor Long will be nominated by a plurality of 20,000.

The New Orleans Item which waged a relentless editorial campaign against Governor Huey P. Long, said Tuesday night: "On the basis of city and county returns available at 10:15 o'clock (Central time), the Item concedes that Governor Long will win by 15,000 to 25,000 majority."

Washington reports indicated that many drouth parts of America received a good precipitation the first week in September.

arose when former Senator Paul Page Sr. of Bastrop and Senator Tom Love of Dallas opposed the platform committee's elimination, on reconsideration, of a constitutional amendment plank eliminating the ad valorem levy from the taxation system. They carried the fight to the convention floor, the convention voting against them and the plank being eliminated.

The Republicans at San Angelo formally nominated Dr. George Butte as their gubernatorial candidate.

The Republicans adopted a 12 plank platform calculated to appeal to all classes, bidding for Democratic votes.

They predict their gubernatorial candidate has a good chance of election.

PLAN OTHERS BEFORE CLOSE OF THIS YEAR

Chamber of Commerce Is Sponsor For Event

PROGRAM OF INTEREST

Has Been Arranged By Local Community Builders

Bryan's first Trades Day will be observed tomorrow, by merchants and business men of this city and men and women of the city's trade territory under the auspices of the Trade Extension committee of the Bryan and Brazos county Chamber of Commerce.

This event will be the first of a series planned by the committee, in an effort to bring town and county more closely together and to establish more firmly in the minds of both business men and the patrons that this city is not only the logical trading point for a wide area but also is an ideal market place in many important respects.

Bryan merchants have cooperated with the Chamber of Commerce in their efforts to make this Trades Day a success. Special efforts have been made by the business men to offer attractive and seasonable merchandise at prices said to be more reasonable than any offered for a number of years. Not only market conditions but the desire of the business men to more firmly establish Bryan as a source of supply to this trade area is responsible, it is said, for this situation.

A feature of the Trades Day, arranged by the Associated Community Builders, Inc., will be of interest to the patrons of the members of this organization and will be staged at the intersection of Main and 25th streets Thursday afternoon. All patrons of the various businesses controlled by the members of the Community Builders are urged to be present at that time.

Will Rogers Says

To the Editor of The Eagle:
CAMP RICHARDSON, Cal., Sept. 10.—Other nations' troubles are not gloated over by us, but it does seem good to be able to read of the revolutions in Argentina, Peru and Brazil, and not read where "American marines have landed and have the situation well in hand." If Mr. Hoover does nothing else but keep our army and navy at home, we can forgive him for not giving us rain, lower taxes and an inflated stock market. Won't it be wonderful if we ever live to see the day when any country can have its own revolution, and even a private and congenial war with a neighboring nation without uninvited guests?

WILL ROGERS.

Kurten Meeting Well Attended Saturday Night

More than 100 people attended the meeting at Kurten Saturday night, held under the auspices of the Boys' and Girls' 4-H Club, Willie Yeager, president of the club yielding the gavel and having to his credit one of the best meetings of the year. Fred Hale of College also shares in the honors, since he is chairman of the Lions group fostering community work at Kurten.

The Bryan Boy Scouts, under the leadership of Scout Lauren Reppert, put on an interesting program featuring the "tenderfoot" test of a Scout. Alfred Schulman was the orator of the day, his "History of the Flag," bringing down loud applause.

Hiram Downard spoke of the American Legion county fair, October 16, 17 and 18, and urged the Kurten people to take an active interest in all the exhibits; President Willie Yeager appointed the following committee to get up the community exhibit: Willie Kelley, W. G. Henderson and Chas. J. Gerke.

L. B. Shifflett of the Missouri Pacific Lines spoke on the importance of marketing home-grown feed stuff through livestock, urging that good livestock be used in such an undertaking. He cited many instances to show that farmers elsewhere had found it profitable to market feed crops through their livestock.

Fred Hale made reference to the record made by Morris Williamson, 4-H Club member, wherein his 12 pigs topped the Houston market recently and the returns showed more than $5 net on each pig after counting every item of expense, including the feeding of the brood sow and male, time used, etc. His pigs averaged 223 pounds each at 175 days of age. His grain cost $1.75 per hundred but when fed to his pigs it brought $2.68 per hundred, thus showing the profitableness of marketable feed crops through livestock.

The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Chas. Gerke. The prize to be awarded at next meeting will be to the one who reports the greatest acreage of fall sown oats, rye, barley, etc., either for cover crops or for grazing purposes.

The pie eating contest staged between the Scouts and the club members, was won by the latter, Alfred Schulman being a close second.

Davis Is Named Presiding Judge Of 2nd District

Judge W. C. Davis, presiding judge of the 85th Judicial District was today notified that Governor Dan Moody had reappointed him presiding judge of the Second Administrative Judicial District, an office which Judge Davis has held since it was first created by act of legislature about three years ago.

Thirty-three central and southeast Texas counties are included in this district, among them being Harris, Jefferson and Galveston. Judge Davis, as presiding judge of the district, has the duty of the transfer and assignment of judges, when resident judges decline to try cases for legal reasons or when they are legally disqualified to sit in them. He also is active in supervising the dockets of the various courts, in an effort to keep them in good shape and to expedite the transfer of court business.

Since the passage of the law creating the administrative district, the district courts of the smaller counties have been engaged in clearing their dockets of old cases and according to Judge Davis all are in good condition from this angle.

With some amendments the present law, according to Judge Davis, will go far toward improving the efficiency of the court system and expediting the dispensation of justice.

Road Bond Issue In N. Carolina Reduces Taxes

Returning from a vacation spent in North Carolina, Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Brown report that after driving over roads in North Carolina they want more of that kind in Texas.

Road bonds in that state are being retired by the gasoline tax and auto license fees similar to those in force in Texas at this time and according to Rev. Brown, property tax is actually being decreased while the payments on bonds voted in recent years are in progress.

A specific instance cited was that of farm property exceeding $7,000 in valuation on which the tax assessment totalled $108.09 and of this amount only $2.18 went to retirement of road bonds. The total assessment against this property was less than 3 years ago.

Mrs. S. C. Huyle and son Sam have returned from a two months' vacation spent at Kerrville and enjoying a motor trip which included scenic points in New Mexico and in the Pikes Peak region of Colorado.

Bryan City Schools to Open Sept. 15 Complete Assignment of Teachers Is Announced Today by Supt. Durham

Formal opening of the city schools will take place September 15. Exercises marking the event will be held in the Stephen F. Austin high school auditorium. The public is cordially invited to attend. Enrollment will take place in each of the buildings following brief exercises in charge of the principals. The buildings are now being put in shape for the classroom activities. Tuesday, Sept. 16 will mark the first of the recitations for the year. It is expected that all buildings will be crowded due to the fact that for the first time six-year old children will be admitted to the schools without charge, and further to the fact that the state pays the tuition for all rural students who transfer to the local high school. In addition to the regular number of students who have been entering each year there are 120 eligible six-year old students who are due to arrive also. There are about 175 transfers from the rural schools of the county to the grades and high schools of the city. The census roll for Bryan proper this year contains the names of 2,175 students as against 1,967 last year. Of this number 1,283 are white students and 892 are negro students.

Two New Teachers

Only two additional teachers have been employed to take care of this increase in first grade students. It is hoped that the work can be so organized that additional teachers will not be necessary for the coming year. In the last three years the student body of the high school has grown from 256 to 381 with only two additional teachers. Furthermore during this time there has been added to the course of study two distinct departments, namely: Commercial work (typewriting, bookkeeping and shorthand) and Vocational Agriculture. Other courses added during this time are: Economics, French, Physical Education, second year Mechanical Drawing and General Science.

White students who live west of Main Street and who are in any of the first seven grades of school will attend the Bowie Elementary School. Those students in these grades who live east of Main Street will report to the Travis Elementary unless they are in the first, second, third or fourth grades and live closer to the Stephen F. Austin high school building. Any shifting of students from one side of the city to the other must be reported to the superintendent whose office is in the high school building. In so far as it is possible the desires of the parents will be granted.

All negro pupils will attend one or the other of the structures on the present school grounds.

Plan New Buildings

Plans and specifications for the new central section of the Bowie Elementary school and the new negro high school have already been drawn. It is expected that the contracts will be let by the city for these buildings during this month and that work will begin as soon as the contracts are let. However it is too optimistic a venture to state that the structures will be of use during the present session. Since all of the class work in the Bowie building was carried on last year in the two wings now available the lack of the central section will not make the half day session necessary. It is probable that at least some of the grades in the negro schools will have to go on the half day session for the entire year.

Few Teacher Changes

There are sixty-two teachers in the public schools of the city. Few changes have been made in the list as it was last year. Three of the teachers have gotten married, two are going to school for advanced training and one of them has gone into the commercial field. There are two additional teachers. New teachers are as follows: Tommie Mills, coach and teacher of general science in the Stephen F. Austin high school; Miss Erna Lee Waits, teacher of first grade work in the high school; Miss Julia Schovajsa, teacher of fourth grade in the high school building; Miss Corinne Love, teacher of first grade in the Travis elementary school; Miss Pearl Williams, teacher of fourth grade work in the Bowie elementary school; Miss Mary Andrews, teacher of history in the Travis elementary school; Miss Hilda Curry, teacher of reading and spelling in the Travis elementary school; and Mrs. W. E. Neeley, teacher of fourth grade in the Travis elementary school; Miss Celeste Plemons, teacher of English in Travis elementary school, intermediate department.

The new teachers in the colored schools are as follows: George Sheffield, teacher in the high school; Robert Wilson, teacher in the intermediate department and coach of high school athletics; and I. E. Carter, teacher of work in the intermediate department.

The complete assignment of teachers for the coming school year is as follows:

Greetings Given School Workers By Supt. Marrs

AUSTIN, Sept. 9.—(P)—S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction, today extended his greetings to pupils and teachers on the opening of a new school year.

"I wish to extend greetings and all good wishes," he said, "to the one and one-half millions of boys and girls, to the more than forty thousand teachers, and to practically the same number of school officials who will engage in the great business of public education during the ensuing year."

"The conception of education as a function of the state involves the training of boys and girls for good citizenship. This includes more than the mechanics of the fundamentals—it is not good enough that the children shall be well versed in the common school subjects, but there must be a thorough training in those virtues that contribute to the strength of manhood and womanhood."

"Excellence in arithmetic may be a mark of brilliance but to be excellent in effort is a mark of character. Today thousands of boys and girls will begin the school work of the year. Very few will have the traditional attitude of the snail's pace; by far the large majority will rejoice that the vacation is over and that old friendships can be renewed and new fields explored. Punctuality, regularity of attendance, promptness in discharge of obligations are school virtues to be cultivated. The waste caused by irregularity of attendance should be reduced to a minimum."

"Youth can render its greatest service to the state and society by contributing to the efficiency of the school through the observance of regulations and by exercising that kind of cooperation with teachers and students which in later years will evidence the qualities of good citizenship."

Vaccination Is Necessary for School Students

All student who expect to enroll in the public schools of the city both white and colored, should be vaccinated against small pox at once, unless a vaccination certificate was filed with the office of the superintendent last year according to H. L. Durham, superintendent of Bryan city schools.

The board of education put this ruling into effect last year. It will be observed strictly for the coming session just as it was observed last session. All students who were in school here last year have certificates filed with the superintendent.

A regular form is being printed and will be given to each of the doctors of the city. This form must be presented to the superintendent along with the scholastic credentials by each student who was not in school here last year.

The majority of these students will enter college with advanced standing. This is taken as a very good indication of the desire on the part of the modern boy for college and university training.

The book committee reported that it had taken out membership in the Junior Literary Guild, subject to the approval of members of the board whose attention the matter had not been called.

Young Friend— Listen

There never was such a real necessity for a young person getting a business education as at the present time. Money is not easy to get. We have all been forced down to a new low level of living. We must work up economically from this new level. We can't buy a new automobile, or take an expensive university education. We must first get a real cash producing education that will not cost much and one that will enable one to accumulate the money necessary to buy the things one would like to have.

A business education secured at a Byrne College will pay you greater returns for the small amount of time and money invested than anything else. Any ambitious young person can get a cash producing education at a Byrne College, for all five of them are located in large cities: Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Fort Worth and Oklahoma City, where you if necessary, get spare time work to pay board and room while in school and a good position when you graduate and if you haven't enough money to pay for a scholarship there are many ways of overcoming that. There is usually, about home, something that can be sold or used to secure a loan, a life insurance policy with a cash loan value available, or a loan can be obtained at a bank or through a student loan fund of a Rotary Club, Lions Club, or women's clubs, etc., or you can get some relative or friend of the family who will be only too glad to have the pleasure of helping you get a good business education and make a real success. They wouldn't lose anything on you for you would pay them back with interest after completing your course and going to work. Hundreds of our former students borrowed the money to buy their scholarship and thereby qualified for the splendid position they are now holding. That a contract for work on Highway 21, between Kurten and the Navasota river will be let by the state highway commission in October and that work will be started on the west end of the same highway, in this county, before close of the year, was the impression obtained by F. L. Henderson and W. S. Barron at a conference with highway officials at Austin last week. This report was made by Mr. Henderson at the meeting of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce this morning.

Mr. Henderson also reported that all bridge sites on Highway 21 had been located by the state highway engineers and now awaited approval only by the federal engineers connected with the bureau of roads.

After much discussion the decision was reached to entertain the delegates to the Sixth District convention, of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, to be held here Wednesday, Sept. 17, at a luncheon.

Directors present were: Wilson Bradley, J. S. Caldwell, W. J. Coulter, W. K. Gibbs, Tyler Hallowell, F. L. Henderson, W. S. Higgs, John M. Lawrence, Jr., M. L. Parker, H. H. Williamson and E. E. Yeager.

First Aid Work In Life Saving Tests Are Given

The last class for the summer season in swimming and life saving conducted in Bryan and Brazos county for the American Red Cross by Lieut. L. R. Nachman of the A. & M. College closed Saturday. Red Cross instructor Nachman has, during the past season, instructed and given the official test in life saving and swimming to 19 juniors and five seniors, making a total of 24 receiving this important educational service through the American Red Cross representative. All are now wearing the A. R. C. Life Saving emblem.

The monthly report to division and national headquarters of the American Red Cross from Brazos county chapter for the month of August, as sent in by the chapter secretary, Mrs. Albert Buchanan, contained this special service as made possible for the local chapter through the services of Lieut. Nachman.

Wheelock Youth Out for Eleven At Schreiner Institute; Squad Out This Year Is Biggest Yet

(Special to The Eagle)
KERRVILLE, Sept. 9.—Football season was ushered in at Schreiner Institute in a big way this week with 70 athletes, the largest football squad ever gathered at Schreiner Institute, mustered in between the opening of training season Thursday and Saturday morning. A few lettermen from the undefeated 1929 team and a few new men were still expected to report.

Bill Hedrick of Wheelock is trying for a berth on the Mountaineer football team that will represent Schreiner in intercollegiate athletics this season.

Aside from the seven lettermen who had reported up to Saturday, the bulk of this large squad comes from various Texas high school teams of the past season. There are also on hand a sprinkling of last season varsity reserves and 1929 Schreiner prep team regulars. With the exception of one cadet from Michigan, one from Louisiana and one from Arkansas, the men are all Texans.

General football practice such as calisthenics, shifting and passing have been the vogue this week. Blocking dummies and linesmen's sled have also had their part in the twice-a-day practices.

No light equipment was issued at the opening of practice this season.

Every man was fitted in muleskins for his workout and has been wearing them consistently since. The coaching staff now working with the 70 prospective cadet gridsters includes H. C. (Bully) Gilstrap, John Guinn, Lieut. W. O. Green and three 1929 lettermen who graduated the past spring from the Schreiner college department.

Schreiner Institute, a junior college, has a football schedule this season which will be most difficult to play. The Schreiner Mountaineers are to be pitted against four senior college teams, two Southwest Conference freshman teams and two junior college teams.

The Schreiner Institute Mountaineers are to play 1930 football games as follows: September 27, Sul Ross State Teachers of Alpine at San Angelo; October 4, army team at Kerrville; October 11, S. W. Texas Teachers College at San Marcos; October 25, St. Mary's University at San Antonio; November 1, Texas College of Arts and Industries at Kingsville; November 11, Edinburg College of Edinburg at Kerrville; November 21, Baylor University freshmen at Waco at Kerrville; November 27 (Thanksgiving) Rice Institute freshmen at Houston.

Should One "Buy a Bale"?

Reading of the "buy-a-bale" movement launched by Dan Moody, Governor of Texas, one is likely to recall that popular song of 1914:

"Buy a bale of cotton, I've bought mine;
"Buy a bale of cotton, it's good at any time."

The purpose of Governor Moody's proposal, made to the governors of southern states, is commendable; the plan should succeed, but not necessarily at 15 cents a pound for the cotton thus bought.

Cotton for future delivery is selling between 11 and 12 cents a pound. If the directors of this campaign should urge the public to buy at 15 cents a pound they would be appealing for charity. The contribution asked of each purchaser would be more than 3 cents a pound, or more than $15 a bale. Although the cotton farmer's product is selling low, there seems to be no reason why he should be aided in preference to wheat and corn growers.

Governor Moody's purpose to stabilize cotton prices probably could be achieved in another way. A proposal that the public buy cotton at the market price would be more likely to succeed. At present quotations of "futures," cotton is an investment; at 15 cents a pound, it is highly speculative. Many persons who could not afford to give the farmers $15 a bale more than it is worth would be glad to invest a small amount with the possibility of profit. A "buy-a-bale" campaign at the market price, if popularized sufficiently, would take off the market for a time enough cotton to stabilize—and raise slightly—the quotations for immediate deliveries. That, in the end, would aid the farmers more than an appeal for charity.

It should be recognized, however, that any such movement is only a temporary expedient and a halfway measure. It does not reduce the visible supply of cotton. Only final consumption of manufactured cotton goods can take any quantity of cotton permanently off the market. The "buy-a-bale" movement may bring in more hands to hold the present stores of cotton, but the cotton so bought by non-users is still in existence and still affects the price, though to a lesser degree, by the possibility of its being dumped back into the market at any time. In the long run the most effective "buy-a-bale" movement is that which finds new uses and new consumers for cotton.—Christian Science Monitor.

Teaching Life Saving

The life saving classes that have been conducted at the Bryan Country Club swimming pool recently for the benefit of Bryan and College youth have a value to the community that is not properly estimated, as a general rule. Yet there has been a great growth in this work, carried on under the auspices of the American Red Cross. This is shown by the fact that since 1914 the Red Cross Life Saving Service has grown from one member to an army of more than 220,000 persons, both juniors and seniors.

The classes that have been conducted at the country club were in charge of Lieut. L. R. Nachman, U. S. A., stationed at Texas A. & M. College, and a recognized teacher in the Red Cross organization. As a result of these classes a considerable number of young people, both boys and girls, from Bryan and College, have qualified either as senior or junior life savers.

Bryan and College residents, especially the younger element, are like those of every other community in their love for outdoor sports. Swimming, which is an individual accomplishment, for which little training is thought necessary, is a sport in universal favor. In this community the club and campus pools are in favor, but hundreds who do not have access to these go to the rivers for their sport. Here danger lies, as the Brazos is known as more or less treacherous and there have been a number of drownings there among swimmers and picnickers.

To qualify for a junior life saver rating the youth must be able to swim well for a fair distance—100 yards; use at least two different strokes; be able to disrobe and surface dive for a 10-pound weight, carrying it to shore in lieu of a drowned person; must make four carries—head-carry, hair-carry, cross-chest-carry and tired-swimmer-carry; break double grip and front and back strangle holds and must give a prone pressure resuscitation method over a period of one and a half minutes, at least.

If the work of the Red Cross is continued along this line, as it has been conducted during the last few years, it is estimated that soon there will be one trained swimmer and life saver for every ten bathers in all communities and sections of the country. This is a condition in which every person, especially parents of children and youths who seek diversion in pools and rivers and other places where bathing and swimming is possible, should be deeply interested. It is understood that Lieut. Nachman will hold his classes another season and there is no question but that this work should be generally supported.

Einstein claims space is the most valuable thing in the world. Most auto owners are beginning to agree with him but most newspaper publishers find lots of people who disagree with them, when they advance this argument.

Cole Blease may have been defeated in South Carolina, but it appears that Huey P. Long was elected from Louisiana. It would seem, in this event, that the senate will not be without a certain amount of fireworks.

There was a time when only the elite—or the elect—were wont to spend week-ends. But with more and more talk of a five day week, week-ends will become so common as to merit no attention.

Over in England they are talking about using the raspberry and the currant hushes as the respective emblems of the Liberal and Conservative parties. Well, many a politician in this country has been given the "raspberry."

Headlines today state that a drive has been mapped out by the Texas G. O. P. It might be in order to ask in what direction the movement is headed.

Well Advised Action

County commissioners and the county judge now are working in an effort to obtain the right of way for Highway No. 21, between Kurten and the Navasota river, in order that there may be no reason for the state highway commission refusing to award the contract for work on this section at its October meeting. According to County Judge McSwain two residents already have donated the land from their holdings required for the right of way and have signed the deeds, formally transferring the property. Other residents are expected to take similar action.

There is no question of the value of an improved highway to that section of Brazos county, as well as to all other sections, and the quick response that has been made to the need for a right of way is gratifying to the county commissioners and should be appreciated by all citizens of the county.

It is this type of cooperation that builds up a community and so long as Brazos county boasts men and women who are willing to sacrifice something in a material way in order that the entire community may benefit there is bound to be a record of progress made here.

What Is Represented?

The year 1931 marks the time when most of the States will readjust their Representative Districts for State and national elections, in approximate harmony with the figures of the new census. In the National Congress States are represented in the Senate, two from each State, irrespective of population. In the House, representation is based on population, except that each State must have at least one member. Nevada, which has a population of not quite 91,000, has two Senators and one Representative. This, of course, is an extreme illustration of the unwise representation of areas.

In Italy representation in Parliament is based on interests, such as agricultural, industrial, labor or professional interests, on the ground that mere population or geographic areas mean little or nothing, since the parts of a contiguous area may have few interests in common, and a mass of population may have many conflicting interests through racial or economic differences.

States, in their plans for redistricting, might well take account of these diverse bases of representation. In the lower house of Congress, and in State Legislatures generally, though with some exceptions, population is the legal basis of representation. Yet in arranging districts some attention should be given to natural geographic subdivisions and to differing interests such as, for instance, rural and urban.

In Texas, for example, the coast counties have a different set of interests from those in the interior. Rural and urban interests should be separately represented, if possible. There are cotton areas, wheat counties, a citrus section, live stock interests and oil regions. The unnecessary mingling of these in the same Representative District is a sort of gerrymandering, since the dominant interest may dwarf the others in fixing policy and naming Representatives. In the Legislature, members meet as representatives of differing interests and, by discussion and compromise, finally legislate for the benefit of the whole State, the larger interests minimizing the smaller.

Redistricting really should not be made by legislators only, unaided by expert advice from those familiar with regional and economic interests. The primary intention in the use of districts is not to provide constituencies for office holders, but to group together areas, persons and interests that have a common aim, which they desire to express through a suitable person who will represent them as a sort of agent. Perhaps the time will come in Texas when eight or ten regions will take the place of counties, and representation will be based on the larger area, having a population with substantially common interests.—Dallas News.

Harmony apparently is the keynote at the state Democratic convention. If the leaders of the party, with the support of the citizenship generally, can lay out a plan for a business like and constructive administration Texas will be greatly benefited. Let us hope that the harmony reported is of a type that will make such a course and result possible.

Shortly a conference of representatives to the League of Nations will discuss the proposed United States of Europe. The talk is expected to be very largely glittering generalities, with Aristide Briand contributing most of the glitter.

THE CHURCH

The church is the noblest and best organization in the world.

It furnishes the best examples of righteous living.

It produces the finest specimens of character of which this world has any knowledge.

It is one sure steadfast promoter and supporter of reform.

It conserves the peace and happiness of the community.

It promotes honest, progressive and beneficial government.

It does the most to make and maintain the home as a place of virtue, love, righteousness, comfort and happiness.

It sympathizes with the weak, the wronged and oppressed and pleads for social justice more than any other institution.

It brings to all classes and conditions of people the best and most comforting and hope-inspiring messages regarding their sorrow, their suffering and what all must face—death.

Give the church your best service. Christ loved the church and gave Himself for it. Live by the church, stand by the church and die by the church.—Kentuckian-Citizen.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—"Write some more of those details of yourself, the more intimate the better," postscripts a beautiful lady and thus bludgeoned into it on a bleak, melancholy day, here goes! I read my home town paper daily although there are scarcely any names I know anymore.

The cook's name is Kathryn, the maid's Anne and the chauffeur Fred. All are German, furnishing an apartment costs three times what I expected, and it still looks skimpy. I like thin slices of yellow cheese for breakfast and floating island for dinner.

I read the American and World in the morning and Telegram and Sun at night. I buy almost every periodical at Blind George's on a Bryant Park corner. I wrap one around the other at a typewriter and continually reach out, lift up something on the desk and put it down quickly.

I'm depressed visiting hotels where I once lived. A clock on my desk tells the time in all parts of the world at any minute. For no reason I often look to see what time it is on the Canary Islands. My hair is muddy gray. My dog sits in corners on one hip.

I am a sentimentalist except where money is concerned. The only mother I ever knew was a grandmother who reared me. My own mother died when I was a child in arms. I have a charge account at Cartier's and in ten years it has totaled $2—for silver polish and repairing a button hook.

I do not believe scandal about others. All scandal mongering is malicious and malicious persons will invariably lie. I never saw anyone of film importance drunk in Hollywood. I had two nicknames, "Dunk" and "Splinters." I'm particularly fond of old people.

The only person I wish to see in prison isn't yet. Some of my most lasting friendships are with printers on newspapers. I ride an hour and walk an hour in different sections of New York every evening, rain or shine, and have for seven years. I have a sister living in Kansas City.

My sole extravagance is ties, pajamas, shirts and socks that are never used but packed away. I would not part with them, but could not use them all if I lived two hundred years. All of which is damnably selfish.

I listen to Floyd Gibbons on the radio when possible. I rarely look at my copy after it leaves the typewriter. When I do I want to write it over again. I cannot write double space and my articles with hurried corrections are the despair of a syndicate office.

It infuriates for anyone to touch my newspapers before reading them or bother anything on my desk. I have been at it too long to be sensitive to criticism about writing. About everything else I am super-sensitive. I sometimes have two and three manicures a week and then go a year without them.

My wife writes the prettiest hand I ever saw. Nor have I seen any chirography like it. The three cities where I find writing easiest are New York, Los Angeles and Paris. I work best in artificial light. The book I enjoyed most this year is "Seed" by Charles G. Norris. The show at which I laughed loudest is "Flying High." I am a sucker for pop corn balls.

I wouldn't stand on the roof of the Chrysler building and—things go black thinking about it—look down, for a fortune. I usually awaken at 5 a. m. for an hour and think of the dandiest topics to write but how banal they are when I try them out! I am always in a flutter over something I lose and immediately find. The only enemies I know are those I have befriended.

My wife has never seen me cry. I sit taunt in airplanes but haven't any fear. I drink from six to ten glasses of water at each meal.

When angry a moustache of perspiration pops out on my upper lip. There is a small mole on my left shoulder. I cannot spell occasion without first looking it up. Any other questions?

Our library is constantly growing and with the availability of the college library. Consolidated students have access to ample literary material.

Only four changes in the faculty of the past year have been made. Teachers who have resigned are Miss Ethyl Walton, Mrs. T. P. Johnson, Mrs. C. T. Sprague, and Mrs. J. J. Woolket. New teachers are Mrs. H. C. Spencer, high school English; Mrs. N. R. Smith and Mrs. C. N. Merrill of the intermediate grades; and Mrs. Dan Russell who will teach public school music.

Students are to report at the school building at 9 o'clock Monday the fifteenth. At this time students will be enrolled and books issued. After the preliminary exercises, classes will be dismissed until Tuesday when regular classes will begin.

Patrons and friends of the school are cordially invited to attend the opening exercises.

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

THE BOTTOM OF THE GROOVE

Twenty-three "business indicators" are utilized by the Department of Commerce in presenting its weekly survey of business conditions. The current survey brings some of these through the week ending August 30, and others through the week ending August 23. One of these, commodity prices, is generally considered a cause no less than an effect of a business depression. When commodity prices are on a hand-to-fall, both wholesalers and retailers are prone to buy on a hand-to-fall basis in time of depression as long as still lower prices are anticipated. Conversely, the end of a commodity price decline accelerates business recovery, since purchasers are then prone to buy in large quantities, not only to fill depleted stocks but also to take advantage of what seem the lowest prices to be expected.

Dun's Review's index number of wholesale prices on September 1 showed an increase of about 1 per cent over August 1, the first increase in 11 months. This increase was due chiefly to breadstuffs, although other agricultural products and metals also showed a slight increase. The clothing group, which includes raw cotton and wool, as well as textiles, showed a 3 per cent decrease during the month, and the miscellaneous group a 1 1-2 per cent decrease. Bradstreet's index number of commodity prices was practically the same on September 1 as on August 1. In 28 individual commodities the price increased; in 27 it declined; and in 51 it remained the same.

The figures of the American Railway Association on freight car loadings, accepted by the Commerce Department, showed, during the third week of August a 2 per cent increase over the second week and a 4 per cent increase over the first week of the month.

The output of steel is also regarded as a significant barometer of business activity. During the third week of August steel operations were 5 per cent greater than during the second week, and 3 1-2 per cent greater than during the first week. New inquiries for fabricated structural steel during the last week of August, according to the Iron Age, were the largest for any week since early in June, with more than one-third of the projected building represented by new bridges.

Building contracts in 37 reporting States in the third week of August showed a marked increase—36 per cent over the second week and 31 per cent over the first week, but still 13 per cent below the corresponding week of last year.

All of these figures indicate that business has touched the bottom of the groove of the present depression. The graph of such depressions shows sometimes the groove to be V-shaped and at other times U-shaped; accordingly it is not possible to estimate whether the upturn will begin right away or be delayed for several weeks. At any rate, it seems certain that the indicators of business will not go lower. —Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

CANNOT PICK COTTON; REAPS SWEET POTATOES

P. R. Keith, who is farming on the C. L. Benson farm three miles west of Bryan on the Sandy Point road, was in the city this morning marketing sweet potatoes. Mr.

Keith stated the rain of last night kept him from picking cotton so he took advantage of the idle time to bring in some potatoes.

His potatoes are of the Porto Rica variety, are large, smooth and well formed and look like they had had a perfect season instead of a hot drouthy summer. Mr. Keith says he is getting a bale to three acres the first picking and there is considerable yet to open. Late cultivation kept his cotton green and growing.

members of the cast of the Lions Minstrel.

The unusual feature of Lion Snyder's program was the tricks of a magician in the person of Mohammed Kahn who makes his headquarters in Chicago. Mr. Kahn was originally from Delhi, India, but has been in the United States thirty years and has toured the whole forty-eight states of the Union three times. He was a personal friend and co-worker of the late master magician Houdini.

President Wilson of the Iowa Park, Texas, Lions Club was a guest of District Governor F. D. Fuller. President Hays Bowers of the Caldwell Lions Club was a guest of Lion Harry L. Durham. Rotarian John Sealy Caldwell was the guest of President Lamar Jones. Joe Westbrook and M. F. Thurman were guests of Lions J. Coulter Smith and Ben H. Noel, respectively.

Lion Fred Hale, chairman of the Lions group sponsoring the Kurten Community Club work, reported a splendid meeting of the boys and girls 4-H Club last Friday evening.

District Governor F. D. Fuller reported a very delightful and successful meeting of the five District Governors of Texas Lionism held in Hillsboro on September 2, Governor Fred O. Grimes being host. Secretary General Melvin Jones of the International office was in attendance.

Lions present were: D. Paul Dansby, Madison Bell, E. R. Bryant, Harry L. Durham, H. O. Ferguson, R. C. Franks, W. S. Howell, Joe Kaplan, Henry S. Locke, Morris Schulman, S. D. Snyder, A. S. Ware, W. E. Wimberley, Ben H. Noel, C. E. Griesser, C. C. Todd Jr., R. V. Armstrong, Milton Dansby, Charles H. Edge, F. D. Fuller, Fred Hale, S. C. Hoyle, Dr. Lamar Jones, W. E. Leverkahn, John Maniatis, Dr. W. E. Paulson, J. Coulter Smith, Luke Patronella, Jno. M. Lawrence Jr., and Mrs. Roy Danforth, pianist.

DEMOCRATS APPLAUD

buildings I might own, I'm rich because I believe I have more real friends than anybody in Texas.

"I won't promise you a great deal, but I'll try to deliver more than that. I have no set speech, I'm just talking from my heart. I'm going to do the best I can for you."

And he sat down, having spoken less than five minutes.

C. I. Francis of Wichita Falls was the next speaker. He "introduced" James Allred, nominated to the attorney generalship. Mr. Allred was not able to be here, but sent a message styling himself a "humble nominee of the greatest political party ever organized."

And he sat down, having spoken less than five minutes.

GALVESTON, Sept. 10.—(AP)—A demand for prohibition enforcement, claimed to be the strongest ever offered to the party in Texas was written Tuesday night into the platform to be submitted to the floor of the Democratic State Convention.

About the same time the committee on platform, sitting as a whole, approved a subcommittee's recommendation, inspired by the forces of Ross S. Sterling, the gubernatorial nominee, that a plank declare for construction and maintenance of state roads out of funds derived from traffic, or more specifically, the gasoline tax. Perhaps the last chance for any serious discord vanished with the adoption of that plank. It has been believed that the only chance for trouble would be in a possible dispute over the statewide highway bond issue proposal which Sterling supported in his campaign; that is, many believed there might be a major disagreement if the candidate insisted on having the plan in the platform.

The prohibition plank was double-edged. It expressed "unalterable opposition" to any attempt to repeal or emasculate prohibition and the last part requested the Legislature to take whatever steps were deemed necessary to afford the Governor facilities for absolute enforcement. The plan was submitted by Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas and was passed by a vote of about 16 to 10 (the exact figures could not be obtained because of the rapidity of the division form of voting) after a tumultuous argument between Senator Love and Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston.

Beeman Strong, an executive committeeman, joined Love in his fight and Henry Paulus of Yoakum sided with Senator Holbrook. When Love arose to seek the expression, Holbrook turned to him and said:

"If you want to kill the Bill of Rights, I'm against you." Love replied so vigorously that his shouts could be heard almost throughout the nearby deserted convention hall. Counties he declared, standing up close to Holbrook, had no right to elect officers unfriendly to the liquor law. He was against, he shouted, counties being "dominated by bootleggers and criminals."

Senator Holbrook arose to cross-examine him. "What does the Governor need that he hasn't got?" he asked. "Well," Love answered, "for one thing he needs an added constabulary and more district attorneys to go into towns and prosecute." He then declared Holbrook "knew himself" that the State had closed a gambling house here recently.

Holbrook replied that wasn't anything unusual. It was done in many cities, he added. "Make your specifications," he flung at the Dallas Senator. "You're just stating things blandly."

"I am not stating things blandly." Then after a bit more of vigorous debating, the matter was put to a vote and Love won. He said later that he was certain it was the strongest prohibition demand ever proposed in Texas by the party.

The whole committee already had approved several of the planks adopted by the subcommittee and later approved the remainder and added one—that asking the Legislature to redistrict the State under the new census for all purposes.

Former Governor W. P. Hobby unanimously was elected chairman of the State Democratic Convention platform committee yesterday afternoon. His selection assured forces of Sterling of full control of the committee.

Harry N. Graves of Georgetown proposed Hobby, business associate of Sterling, and there were no other nominations. Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston was elected vice chairman and Ernest May of Fort Worth, secretary.

Hobby took the chair immediately and a subcommittee of seven was appointed, over the protest of Senator Thomas B. Love, to prepare a tentative platform draft. Those named were former Lieut. Governor T. W. Davidson of Marshall, Senator Love, Henry Paulus of Yoakum, Senator Holbrook, S. W. Dean of Navasota, Harry Graves of Georgetown and Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock.

Secretary Also Serves May by virtue of his secretaryship, was automatically entitled to serve. Love opposed the creation of the sub-committee because he said he thought the entire committee should go to work directly on the platform. He found only three supporters, however, and the sub-committee set out to prepare the draft for submission to the whole committee.

Murphy Townsend of Dallas was chosen permanent chairman of the convention and Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Houston permanent secretary. All proceedings were with the unanimous consent of the delegates. There was no discussion from any source, the partisans of Former Governor James E. Ferguson, whose wife Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson was defeated in the runoff primary by Sterling, remaining in the background if, in fact, any were here.

Ferguson was absent and it was the first time he had missed a gathering of this nature in years. In a session lasting more than three hours and moving smoothly in the main, the sub-committee adopted these planks for submission to, and probable adoption by, the main committee:

Declaration against proxy government, thanks to women voters and press for their part in the campaign.

Strong criticism of Republican party and its tariff and indictment of Republicans as having brought the country to "verge of commercial disaster."

Indorsement of widened public education and general indorsement of equalizing educational opportunities within counties.

The highway plank. Indorsement of enforcement of all laws, including prohibition and opposition to any attempt to repeal it. (The last clause was added at the suggestion of Senator Love, who spoke for a number of women prohibition workers.)

Strong indorsement of Moody administration. Condemnation of mob violence. Improvement of the penitentiary system in some manner and increased eleemosynary facilities, especially for insane and tubercular.

Plea for solid support for Sterling administration. Suggestion that effort be made to arrive at system of tax on oil and minerals to enable reduction in ad valorem tax. An amendment by Senator Love requested that the Legislature submit constitutional amendment providing for elimination of all ad valorem property tax within two years after passage of amendment.

Conservation of natural resources, including water supply. Larger appropriations for State Labor Department and provision for insuring state highway employees.

Encouragement for outside capital. Strict enforcement of anti-trust laws. Simplification of court procedure.

Legislation to assure municipalities, in taking public waters, over hydro-electric industry. Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin protested and intimated he would fight the plank before the whole committee or on the convention floor.

Provision for system of state parks. Announcing "to the world that Texas is coming into the light of a new day" where opportunity for advancement will be afforded to rich and poor alike. Lewis Carpenter of Dallas suggested the plank, saying some effort had been made to style the campaign a fight between "the rich and poor" and declared he felt such reports should be challenged.

A number of resolutions were adopted. One of them, by love, suggested repeal of that part of the rule of evidence already not invalidated.

The executive committee's selections for temporary officers were ratified by the convention. Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Houston was made secretary and T. J. Anderson of Galveston sergeant-at-arms.

District delegations had named their members of the executive committee as follows: District 1, J. I. Wheeler; 2, W. C. Hurst; 3, Frank B. Guinn; 4, Will E. Orin; 5, D. F. Standley; 6, W. C. Campbell; 7, Carl Estes; 8, W. B. P. Anderson; 9, not selected; 10, A. H. Eubanks; 11, Carr P. Collins; 12, not selected; 13, O. L. Kidd; 14, W. J. Embree; 15, C. G. Krueger; 16, W. M. Cleaves; 17, J. R. Farmer; 18, Sam C. Lackey; 19, John Fuchs; 20, Frank Hill; 21, Pat Holt; 22, Robert Edwards; 23, Charles I. Francis; 24, not selected; 25, Lee Pfluger; 26, Clinton G. Brown; 27, W. B. Montgomery; 28, Ed H. Sterley; 29, W. M. Addey; 30, G. E. Hamilton; 31, R. E. Underwood.

The following were recommended by district organizations as members of the platform committee: J. I. Wheeler, T. W. Davidson, Beeman Strong, C. M. Stone, S. W. Dean, John F. Wallace, Earl W. Greer, Tom Ramey, L. L. Bowman, Tom B. Love, Burris C. Jackson, W. E. Spell, Paul D. Page, Henry Paulus, D. P. Hobby, T. J. Halbrook, J. J. Woodhouse, A. J. Wirtz, Harry Graves, Henry Clark, L. E. Morris, W. E. Forky, Penrose Metcalf, O. M. Fitzgugh, Archie Parr, Earnest Way, C. E. Cashier, Pink L. Parrish, J. E. Stubblefield.

The following were named on the committee of permanent organization: E. T. Page, B. C. McElroy, D. P. Rock, W. T. Jamison, C. N. Shaver, Rufus Hardy, G. L. Florence, J. W. Dewesse, T. T. Wrenn, Fred Horton, Fred F. Florence, A. R. Stout, G. W. Glass, Dr. Billie Burns, Gus Russell, R. R. Lewis, M. S. Munson, D. G. Sample, Dr. E. P. Shelton, C. N. Avery, C. E. Donsby, M. D. Plumble, D. J. Brookerson, Andrew Howiser, John W. Roberts, O. A. Goeth, Mrs. F. A. Thompkins, Joe Stedham, S. J. Isaacs, G. E. Hamilton, Lon Stagner.

Credentials committee: A. V. Simpson, Senator Margie E. Neal, Benton McMillen, Frank Carpenter, C. H. Kenley, J. J. Faulk, Charles H. Morris, W. C. Edmonds, M. M. Pearson, Roger Wise, Dr. Minnie L. Moffett, W. E. Muse, Harvey B. McAlister, Mrs. Lee J. Rountree, Joseph V. Frnka, J. W. Blake, A. H. Armstrong, G. A. Pringle, Mrs. John Fuchs, John L. Brunner, Frank T. West, Bullock Hyder, George Moffett, Frank Sparks, G. Y. Lee, Mrs. Charles Fowler, W. A. Kerr, John H. Reagan, John Perkins, John Dalrymple, John Simpson.

Report of the committee on credentials stating the various delegations as registered was adopted. The committee on permanent organization recommended Murphy Townsend of Dallas for chairman and Mrs. Fincher, the temporary secretary and other temporary officers for permanent occupancy.

George Purl of Dallas seconded the nomination of Murphy Townsend, chairman of the convention as recommended by the committee on permanent organization.

Mrs. A. C. Zehner of Dallas seconded the nomination of W. O. Huggins of Houston as chairman of the state committee.

Mrs. J. Edward Hodges of Houston seconded the nomination of Mrs. J. W. Fincher for secretary of the convention.

Sensors George Purl and Walter Woodul and Mrs. Helen Moore of Texas City escorted Townsend to the platform.

He was introduced as the man responsible for the "tremendous vote Ross Sterling got in North Texas."

While the nominations were being made on the main floor the committee on platform and resolutions was meeting in an ante-room. Former Governor Hobby was chosen chairman without opposition; Senator Holbrook was made vice chairman and Ernest May of Fort Worth a former assistant Attorney General, was elected secretary.

Former Lieutenant Governor T. W. Davidson proposed the appointment of a sub-committee to prepare a tentative platform draft for submission to the main convention. Senator Love opposed the move, saying the whole committee ought to take up the matters first hand. He was voted down overwhelmingly, however, and the seven were named. They were: Davidson, Senator Love, Henry Paulus of Yoakum, Senator Holbrook, Harry Graves of Georgetown, S. H. Dean of Navasota, Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock.

There was the largest turnout of aspirants for places on the high school team yesterday in the history of the school. The 35 that reported for service on the gridiron were put through some real work as well as the usual skill practice period.

The local school has added another promising young athlete to their squad, in young Spahr, brother of E. K. Spahr, professor at A. and M. College. This young athlete hails from Bristol, Va., weighs around 165 or 170 pounds and plays tackle. We feel that Tommy Mills will be able to develop this young man into a great athlete, for the once over he looks like he has all the necessary qualifications that go to make a great gridster.

We learned the other day why Bryan was defeated by Stoneham at Navasota recently. During the games the Salvato Brothers supply all their men with Dr. Pepper. Just before the game started they all went under the grandstand and drank some cool Dr. Pepper. They went out, and before the Stoneham boys could get their balance, the local boys had pushed over a couple of tallies. The Stoneham boys found out the reason for all the pep and some were slipped under the stand and stole all the Dr. Pepper they had. The result was the local boys lost the game. No Pepper, no pep.

Jack Sharkey and Campolo will meet in another boxing elimination at New York. It will depend upon Sharkey's showing at this bout whether he will be given another chance to meet Schmeling. The public is getting tired of Sharkey in his in and out fighting and his fouling tactics. He has a harder hill to climb now, since that fatal meeting with Schmeling some time ago. Young Stribling is getting the call and when the youngster steps in over Sharkey it will be some time before the gob will get a crack at Strib. However, we believe that Carey will match Sharkey and Stribling to reproduce their last winter exhibition at Miami, Fla. If Sharkey does not show up any too well against Campolo, this bout in Florida would develop into a financial fizzle.

What the fight fans want is a fight between Young Stribling and the big German. This would sure draw a big gate and that is what the promoters are after.

Jack Dempsey says he is thinking of returning to the ring. If he keeps putting off his attempt to come back he will be dead with old age. Dempsey will never attempt a comeback for the heavyweight championship crown. It would take him over a year to get into condition to fight any person of prominence in the pugilistic fraternity.

This month brings the big leagues to the home stretch. The Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn are battling for the National League honors, while Connie Mack and his athletes are coasting along to another American League triumph. The question has arisen, will the Athletics repeat? Yes. We believe they will again be champions of the world. They are at present in a class all by themselves, and it will take a better club than the one Joe McCarthy is piloting to knock him off the lofty position in the baseball world this old veteran is now enjoying. When Connie Mack disposed of his one hundred thousand dollar infield, his rise to first division in the American League circuit has been rather a wishy-washy affair. His efforts in young stars at first were disappointing. Connie began to be a joke, but his indomitable courage still stayed with him. His youngsters started to show signs of real prospects and gradually gap after gap was filled, until he rounded out one of the greatest baseball machines in the history of the game.

Harry Burger was elected treasurer of the Bryan high athletic department at a meeting held last night. Mr. Burger will enter upon his duties as such at once.

The athletic council announces that within the next week or so shower baths will be available at the high school athletic plant. We feel sure this will be great news for the high school athletes.

We have an athletic council at the high school at present that is sure functioning. They have the school athletics at heart and they will put forth every effort to give Bryan a high school athletic plant that every citizen will be mighty proud of. It takes time to make these improvements, but the citizenship can rest assured that every available dollar will be put to excellent use in bringing this plant up to such a high plane that it will be considered the best in the south.

The council wants the cooperation of all the local citizenship. They must stand together if they ever expect to reach the goal they are pointed for. The high school needs the moral support of the Bryan citizens. Come out to the home games and show the boys that you are behind them win, lose or draw.

It is the people of this community that makes athletics at the local school possible. If you fail to do your part the athletic department cannot function. You have your part in this program, so come out and help the council put over their program they have outlined for 1930.

We have secured the services of a great athlete and coach in Tommy Mills. He promises to give everything he has in the hope that he will turn out a winner in his initial attempt in the coaching world. Tommy should make the local school a wonderful coach. He has had a lot of experience on the gridiron under those two master football mentors, Dana X. Bible and Matty Bell.

There was the largest turnout of aspirants for places on the high school team yesterday in the history of the school. The 35 that reported for service on the gridiron were put through some real work as well as the usual skill practice period.

Lee County Men Plan to Preserve Pioneer History

Another organization for the preservation of Texas historical legends and to commemorate the "early days of this empire state, came into existence recently at Giddings.

In memory of the days when the Indians settled along the banks of the "Yegua Creek" in that section of Texas, the people of Lee county have formed themselves into the Yegua Water Association and will hold the first annual pow wow at Giddings, in conjunction with the Lee County Fair, Oct. 16, 17 and 18.

All persons born in Lee county, or who have sojourned there and tasted the waters of Yegua, are eligible to membership in the association. Yegua water will be served at Pow Wow headquarters by the officers of the association during the meeting; Indian legends will be told, and memories of the pioneer history of Texas recalled. Indian tepees, the pipe of peace, the "white feather" of Chief Whoopee, whose tribe of Indians first settled on the Yegua will give a mark of distinction to the Pow Wow.

Since the coming of the white man to the Yegua country, the old tradition of Chief Whoopee and his tribe of warriors has been handed down by one generation to the next, and in order to commemorate its early Indian origin, and to perpetuate it for future generations, this historical association has been formed.

Officers of the Yegua Water Association are as follows: Judge John H. Tate, Giddings, president; Dr. H. G. Hertel, Giddings, first vice president; Harry Knox, Brownwood, second vice president; J. R. Folks, Giddings, secretary treasurer; Dr. J. M. Johnson, Giddings, medicine man; John Knox, Giddings, venerable chief.

Mrs. Albert Buchanan of Bryan has been notified of her selection as a member of the executive council of the association.

Tucker Is Held As Bootlegger; Arrested Today

Tommy Tucker, who recently made an assignment, as a filling station operator, for the benefit of creditors, was arrested this morning by Chief of Police Martin and Constable Horace Reed, and charged with having whiskey in his possession for the purpose of sale.

A preliminary examination will be given Tucker by Justice J. T. McGee in a few days. Lamar Bethea has been retained as attorney by Tucker.

Tucker was arrested after he had reported his auto missing from where he had parked and it was found that D. D. White and Company had taken the car on the ground that Tucker was indebted to the firm. It was then that the whiskey was discovered in the car by the officers.

Experience in Growing Tomatoes in This Territory This Year to Prove Of Great Value in Coming Season

BY NELL BENTLEY

Farmers in Brazos county, business men of Bryan and many interested in the economic welfare and farm prosperity of this section are still interested in the possibility of continuing the growing of tomatoes for early market shipments; which project had a fair beginning and met with at least nominal success during the season of 1930, despite a late start and adverse weather conditions coupled with inexperience on the part of growers here.

It appears to be the consensus of opinion among those who grew tomatoes and those who were closely connected with promoting the tomato acreage and managing the shipments, that this year's experience in the matter of selecting soil types, applying fertilizer and preparation of seedbeds, etc., will be worth much during coming seasons to those who continue in the tomato growing business. It is thought by them that an earlier and superior crop as to shipping and market qualities in future seasons will be the result of lessons learned through lack of experience and information along these lines.

In the face of difficulties arising from an initial attempt in tomato culture coupled with unusual seasonal conditions, many who struck to the game and made the best of the situation regardless, can show records of profit from the cost of production per acre which far exceed those for cotton and other staple crops of this section and meanwhile, derived an additional advantage from having a bit of ready cash come into the farm coffers at a time when money was scarce and could best be used in deferring the cost of other farm operations to be turned to a profit later in the year.

While throughout the entire project comprising some 80 to 100 acres, results ranged all the way from complete failure to more than $225 profit per acre above cost of plants, fertilizer, etc.; taken by and large the profits ranged from $25 to $40 per acre and few of those who actually picked and sold tomatoes from their plots failed to realize more from their investments and labor than would have been possible from an equal area planted in cotton.

In the vicinity of Alta, where soil types and other factors do not differ greatly from those found in Brazos county, records kept over a period of 11 years show an average profit of $108 per acre with two complete failures resulting during the 11 years checked for results. While this figure is somewhat above the average profit realized by Brazos county growers for the past year here, it is not unreasonable to suppose that over a period of 5 to 10 years, profits in that range may be attained.

As a medium through which growers might be mutually helpful and might receive instruction from experts in charge of growing and shipping operations, the Brazos County Tomato Growers Association was organized last spring with Lynn Sample as president and Will Jones as secretary-treasurer. Regular meetings of this group have been held monthly and often, if occasion demanded, continuing even after shipping operations had ceased for the season.

A committee representing the Tomato Growers Association is now active in cooperation with the agricultural committee of the local chamber of commerce, with the objective of establishing here before the shipping season arrives in 1931, a canning plant which will take care of over ripe and cull tomatoes and reduce the losses from waste of products usable but not acceptable at the sorting bins.

During the coming season officers of the Tomato Growers Association will include: President, J. B. Priddy; vice president, Lynn Sample; secretary-treasurer, Will Jones. In addition to tomato growing and shipping, it is hoped to extend the activities of this organization to include growers of potatoes, melons and other truck crops for market purposes, and with this objective, farmers who are not interested in growing and marketing tomatoes but who would consider growing other truck crops, are invited to join the tomato growers in their next regular meeting, which will be held at the county court house on Saturday, September 27, at 2 p. m. At that time the matter of perfecting other sections of this organization will be discussed and considered. It is thought that the proposed canning factory may serve as a medium of market for truck and vegetable products other than tomatoes and that the prospect of its establishment here may lead to a considerable increase in interest and acreage planted to truck and vegetables, both for home canning and for market purposes.

It is thought that when the farmers and growers of the county have reached a conclusion and agreement as to how they may best create a stock company and subscribe shares in same for the purpose of purchasing equipment and opening a canning plant, there will be no trouble to secure financial assistance and support from local banks and civic organizations in a position to give stability and impetus to the movement.

Splendid progress has been made during the past year and the tomato project as culminating here last season has been a step toward increased diversification in agricultural lines; which plan has received hearty encouragement and liberal support from all civic and educational forces of the county. This movement is deserving of consideration and support, even on the basis of this year's operation, which is not thought to have approached the possibilities of development, if only things may be held together until sufficient momentum and foundation have been acquired.

In this connection, Lynn Sample, retiring president of the growers association, makes an appeal to both farmers and business men to meet on common ground and with unselfish interest in a common cause at 2 p. m. on September 27; each group and every man in a frame of mind and heart to put his shoulder to the wheel and advance as rapidly as possible with a movement which promises much if only all forces will pull together and cooperate for the progress and success of organized production and marketing of not only tomatoes, but potatoes, melons and numerous other fruits and vegetables adaptable to Brazos county soils and farms.

STATE NOT DIVIDED FOR TEXAS INTERCOLLEGIATE
SAN MARCOS, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Moves made by officials of the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association last spring to divide the eleven-school association into two divisions and the winners to play off for the championships seems now to have been wasted energy.

With the 1930 grid season at hand, nothing has been done to carry out such a plan. O. W. Strahan, head of the athletic department of San Marcos Teachers College, indicated recently that nothing would be done in regard to the sectionalizing plan until 1931.

IT'S PASTURE DRILLING TIME IN TEXAS

Planting small grains for pastures now means dairy dollars this winter, and this isn't a matter of opinion but the experience of scores of Texas dairy herd demonstrators who have learned that barley, oats, rye or wheat sowed in September means rich grazing in September means rich grazing in November, moisture permitting. Good pastureage cut the cost of producing butterfat from 29 cents per pound to less than 20 cents per pound in 62 demonstrations with 401 cows last spring, and much the same results have been obtained in the winter months in herds where one acre per cow of good small grain pasture was provided.

With reports from Texas county agents indicating that the acreage seeded to small grains for pasture purposes this fall will break all state records, Extension Service specialists suggest that farmers sow these crops by the 15th to 20th of September, and that the seeding be thick. Whether wheat, rye, oats or barley is used, it pays to sow about 90 pounds of seed per acre. The earliness of planting is very important, they say, because a September sowed pasture will normally furnish one-fourth more and longer grazing than one sowed a month later. Frequently it is found that the advantage of an early seeded pasture is much greater than this, and will likely be true this fall when feed for work stock, cows, and hogs and chickens is short in many places.

Drilling small grains into cotton fields after the cotton is out, with no other preparation than to plow out the cotton stalks should be a means of destroying boll weevil food, has been found very successful in much of the state. Where the crop is not out the fields until late the pasture crop may be drilled down the middles. The big idea to keep in mind is to sow thick, and early.

Sow Fall Grain Early
E. A. Miller, Extension Service agronomist, urges early sowing of fall grain, oats, rye, barley, vetch, winter peas, etc., to furnish winter grazing for livestock, prevent soil washing and to take up available nitrogen that would otherwise be leached out. He says "Grain may be drilled in between the corn or cotton or grain sorghum rows with a small grain drill, or the seed may be broadcast and then covered with a fine tooth one row cultivator, harrow, or some other form of scratcher plow."

Mr. Miller suggests that if the crop is to be used for hay, or feed next spring, the seed should be treated with formaldehyde, using one pint of formaldehyde to 5 gallons of water for each 40 bushels of grain to prevent smut.

Plans Winter Pasture
C. C. Morgan, prominent business man and stockman, states that he plans to sow some 50 to 75 acres to oats for winter grazing using the small drill to put grain in cotton middles. The recent rains will bring oats already sown into early grazing for Mr. Morgan's cattle and other livestock.

Get Fair Exhibits Ready
Get that fair exhibit ready. Let's help the American Legion pull off the best fair Brazos county has ever held. In helping the Legion we help ourselves and give Brazos county agriculture a big boost. Look the catalogue over and see just how many things you can really get ready for exhibit, 10 ears of corn, 20 bolls of cotton, pen of poultry, a pumpkin, a bale of hay, a stalk of cotton, a dairy cow, a brood sow and many other exhibits will win cash money. Try to get as much of the $750 in prizes as possible.

Rebuild Terraces
Now is the time to begin the rebuilding of terraces, seeing to it that there are no weak places and that all outlets do not "cut back", thus causing ugly gullies leading back into the fields. Fill outlet with brush, rock, or a concrete drop—dam it—stop it.

Report Demonstrations
Unless club members make reports on their demonstrations, there will be no scholarships allowed to Dallas fair next year. In other words the quota is determined by the number making reports and not by the number who join the club. A postage stamp is known by its "sticking" quality; so is a club member. Get your report in early.

Plans Rotary Program
Dr. Fred W. Jensen, member of the rural-urban committee of the Rotary Club, will direct the Rotary program at the Tabor community meeting on Friday night of this week, singing and stunts featuring the program. All Rotarians making the meeting will leave the Parish House at 7:30 Friday evening.

J. Lynn Thomas, Extension dairying in Brazos county. John Barnes, Roland Crenshaw, and Will Conrad will assist in the musical program. Don't miss this meeting. Full of fun, frolic and helpful information.

Rosewood, fullback, a group of seven lettermen from past seasons were included in the squad of candidates who reported. Other lettermen are Adrian Tracy, Houston, end; Carl Moulden, Cisco, and Byrom Magill, Marshall, tackle; Jack Christian, Abilene, and Roscoe Van Zandt, Fort Worth, guards; and Dan Abbey, Del Rio, center.

All of the lettermen were members of the 1929 eleven except Van Zandt, who received his letter as a member of the 1928 grid team. His return after an absence of a year adds even more strength to the already imposing prospects for another of those fighting Aggie forward walls this fall. Six of the seven lettermen returning are line-men, Captain Floyd being the only letterman among the backfield candidates.

Coaches and fans who saw the Aggie candidates in their initial workout were particularly impressed by Dan Abbey, big center, who won much renown as a sophomore pivot man last season. Abbey weighed in at 200 pounds for initial practice and seemed to be in perfect condition. Not only is he the big center coordinated but he is one of the fastest men on the squad, having been one of the outstanding quarter-mile prospects on the Aggie track team last spring.
